Mixed Chorus Presents Varied Concert Sunday

Works ranging from a Bach cantata to an American folk song will be presented by the Brigham Young University mixed chorus in their winter concert Sunday evening.

Opening the program will be a chorale prelude, "O Lord, Do Not Despise Me," by Bach, presented by J. J. Keeler, university organist.

Features Brandt Curtis

The chorus will then present Bach's Cantata Number 135, "O Lord, Do Not Despise Me," featuring Brandt Curtis, tenor; Inga Smith, alto; and Edward A. Sandgren, baritone, as soloists. Accompaniment to the cantata will be provided by an instrumental ensemble consisting of Jean Slack, Sue Nelson, Gerald Fish, Dixie Robison, Helen Salerno, and Gale Hansen, violins; Harold Laycock and Gordon Childs, violas; Verda Stubbs, and Bonnie Berrett, cellos; Ardean Watts, bass; Blaine Edlefson and Illa Mae Cook, oboes; Norman Hunt, trombone; Homer Wakefield, harpsichord; and J. J. Keeler, organ.

Edited by Gates

This number is an edition of the Bach Gesellschaft, edited by chorus director Crawford Gates, with translation by Dr. Gerrit de Jong, Jr., Dean of the College of Fine Arts.

The second group of program numbers will be presented by a chamber music group composed of Ted Wight, flute; Blaine Edlefson, oboe; Glenn Williams, bassoon; Homer Wakefield and Louise Wakefield, harpsichords; and Gordon Childs, violon d'amour. Their numbers will include "Trio Sonata in E-flat Major," by Handel, "Preludes 15 and 17 for Viole D'Amour and Clavecin" by Casadesu, and "Minuetto Ancien," by Corras, and "Sonata in A Major," by Scarlatti and "Air con Variation," by Handel.

Other Numbers Listed

Other choral numbers to be presented include a madrigal, "Ah, Love, Here Is My Heart," by Hassle; "Little Bird," an American folk song sketch by Kubik, which was originally a work commissioned for the Robert Shaw Chorus; "A Blossom Falls," by Ravel, presented by the ladies chorus; and Randall Thompson's adaptation of Thomas Jefferson's text, "Testament of Freedom," by the male chorus.

Legislative Council Enforces Rules By Dropping Delinquent Members

A Legislative Council ruling automatically dropping any member for repeated absence and late attendance came in force this week when two students were unseated from the student council.

Mary Louise Udall, Thatcher, Ariz., and Jerry Long, Ely, Nev., were named to replace John Mc-Cabe, San Carlos, Calif., junior class president, and Glen Williams, Provo, band organization representative to the council.

The dismissals came as a result of repeated absences of the two student officers.

Keith Orme, studentbody president and chairman of the Legislative Council, in commenting upon the dismissal, stated that "the Legislative Council enacted the measure on themselves in order to assure consistent and continued attendance."

"The statute imposes the automatic recall after a member is absent twice or tardy three times," he said.

Betty Martini, Glendale, Calif., was named to the council as senior class representative to replace Myron Walker, American Fork, studentbody business manager; and Virgil Smith, Salt Lake City, will act as representative of the Graduate school.

Last time the council ruling was brought into effect was in 1950, when Bob Whittaker, president of Alpha Epsilon Rho, and Lee Fillerup, AMS head, were dropped from council membership due to "indifference."

Prior to the recall of Mr. McCabe and Mr. Williams, the ruling had been modified for them because their excuses were considered valid.

Miss Udall is currently vice president of the junior class; Mr. Long is connected with the band organization, thus minimizing confusion in the change-over.

Monday Deadline For Caps, Gowns

Deadline for ordering senior caps and gowns is Monday, according to Lee Stratford, senior class president.

Graduation attire may be rented from the campus bookstore for two dollars and fifty cents plus a one dollar deposit.

Personal cards must be ordered from the bookstore by March 15.

Ken Pace Returns to Y, Heads Alumni Publicity

Ken Pace, '51 graduate and twice editor of the UNIVERSE, was this week named director of publications for the Alumni Association of Brigham Young University and editor of the association magazine.

Mr. Pace will be associated with the Alumni organization in a full-time capacity, and will handle all publicity, brochures and other information published by the alumni group. Correlation with Public Relations will be a function of the new department in order to prevent overlapping of services.

A journalism major, Mr. Pace was a member of the Student Executive Council in 1948 and the Student Senate in 1949. He was affiliated with the AMS Council, Blue Key and Bricker social unit. Prior to his appointment he was advertising manager of Sears, Roebuck in Provo.

Alumnus Published Monthly

The Alumnus, official organ of the Alumni association, will be published on a monthly basis in the future, and according to Mr. Pace, "... is just one instrument in the vast new mechanism set-up to promote the alumni program." It is designed to carry BYU news and association information to all alumni of the Y.

Ray Beckham, formerly editor, will continue as associate editor of the magazine. It is sent to parents of Y students who request it, and to all members of the Alumni Association.

New Expansion Policy

Appointment of Mr. Pace is in line with the current drive for membership of the association, being carried on throughout the world.

The February issue of the magazine, first issue edited by Mr. Pace, carries an article on the newly set up engineering department and Dr. Harvey Fletcher. Use of the fieldhouse is featured, and progress of the Y basketball squad.

Vaudeville Tops Girls' Day Saturday

The annual vaudeville show sponsored by the Brigham Young University Associated Women Students will be presented in the Joseph Smith auditorium Saturday night at 7:15 p.m.

A Girls' Day dance to be held in connection with vaudeville days will begin in the social hall at 9 p.m. following the show.

The Freshmen AWS council, in planning and directing this year's vaudeville, alerted all students to watch for "D Day" which represents the Girls' Day theme, "Dogpatch Days."

Eight skits staged by Nautilus, To Kalon, Ri Veda, Cami Los, Alcyone, O. S. Trovata, Upsilon Chapter of Lambda Delta Sigma and Y Calcares comprise the program. Most girls' social units, clubs and other organizations on campus were encouraged to submit entries for the occasion. The skits to be seen in the vaudeville show were selected in tryouts held two weeks ago.

Out-of-town Judges

Saturday the acts will be judged by music and drama instructors from Provo and Springville on originality, coherence to the Dogpatch theme, unity and timing. A trophy similar to the one given each year will be awarded to the victorious group.

Including dance routines, stories, satires, and lots of hilariously hilariousness, the six minute skits promise a laughable evening free of charge. Well-known campus personalities, as well as Dogpatch characters, will be on the agenda.

The dance after the show is girl's choice, in keeping with Girls' Day and Leap Year. Couples are requested to dress in cottons and levis. Tickets will be sold for 75 cents by the Y Calcares in booths in the Science and Smith buildings and at the door. Ardean Watts' orchestra and a special intermission boasting a men's fashion show will be featured.

Radios to be Supplied

Because the dance is scheduled on the same evening as the Utah-BYU basketball game, radios will be furnished at the dance, so that the sports broadcast may be heard.

General chairmen of the all-day event are: Gayle Walton, Provo, Girls' Day chairman; Joanne Stringham, Walla Walla, Wash., vaudeville chairman; Betty Page, Pleasant Grove, dance chairman; Sue Nelson, Mercer Island, Wash., Freshman Council adviser.

KEERFUL, L'L ABNER—L'L Abner, Marlene Quinn; town gossip, Ganae Haacke; and Daisy Mae, Grace Ostler, practice for AWS-sponsored Girls' Day vaudeville show.

FAME AND FAVOR AWAIT STUDENTS WHOSE NAMES APPEAR IN UNIVERSE

Find fame and favor at home by getting your name in the UNIVERSE. How come you ask? 'Tis easy, child, and the rules are simple:

First, stir around and do something. Anything. Just make sure a UNIVERSE reporter gets your name. What happens next is inexorable. Your name in print. Somewhere, maybe on page five, bottom left, under the classifieds, your name will break into the news. A special committee in the Alumni office will send the UNIVERSE home to your fond and ever-hopeful folk—and your name will be the reason.

Seriously, mailing the UNIVERSE to the homes of students whose names appear in an issue, is part of an expanded university program to keep parents and families of students informed of campus affairs.

The new program was inaugurated and is being carried out through the office of the Alumni Association, according to Cleon Skousen, executive secretary.

A Sound Traffic Policy

Gripping about the traffic regulation system at Brigham Young University seems to be at an all-time low this year. Even among those twenty-some-odd students whose cars have been impounded for repeated violation, the comments are more often subdued than vociferous.

The fact that offenders, as a rule, have very little basis for argument probably explains the situation.

The recent trend toward more stringent enforcement of traffic regulations by the department of buildings and grounds seems entirely justified. In past years, when fines were both smaller and fewer, the "rebellious" minority would take unjust advantage of those who were trying to abide by University law. This year those few are being discovered, and are receiving penalty that they deserve.

With nearly 1000 cars registered on campus, the parking problem could be acute. The move towards centralization of student parking has been a move in the right direction. Previously, students would vie for preferred positions in a few small and scattered lots. Consequently, many would have to park illegally in order to get to classes on time. Now, with student parking localized, drivers know where they have to go, and can allow themselves time to get there.

Illegal parking, if it gets out of hand, only causes congestion that fogs a traffic system with possibilities for efficient functioning. It is only a small problem if each driver will accept the responsibility of accepting the rules.

Mild Commotion . . . Reverent Amen

by Cal Pratt

by Don Oscarson
Guest Columnist

A mild commotion rose from a group of students. Loud applause filled the fieldhouse. Was it a basketball game? Was it a talent show?

When the applause died down, the man in charge stepped to the front of the yellow canvas and solemnly announced, "The closing prayer will be offered by Brother M."

What! A devotional! I am amazed. The "B Y and You" I received as a freshman failed to mention that the old-fashioned "Amen" has been set aside for Apostles only, and that the ways of the world would be substituted for our other guests. If this is to be the case, why not eliminate the opening prayer and beautiful music at some devotionals? I am sure that they fail to give inspiration to many of the speakers.

How many of our guests would expect to receive applause if they were speaking in a meeting enclosed by prayers and the singing of sacred songs, just because it is held in the fieldhouse?

Why can't we treat all our guests with the same respect as we do the General Authorities of the Church? What is wrong with letting our visitors feel that the vigorous "Amen" transmits our gratitude in just as sincere a manner as scattered applause? Why must we destroy the finest feelings of inspiration left by the speakers?

Let's keep our meetings of high quality; that is, the administration's duty. Let's keep our meetings inspirational; that is, the speaker's duty. Let's keep our devotionals devotional; that is, OUR duty.

Letters to the Editor

'Ex Officio' Legislature . . .

Dear Editor:

This letter is one of suggestion rather than complaint. It occurs to me that it might not be in keeping with the best theory of democracy to have a legislature at a school such as BYU. The more direct participation that can be given a people in their government the closer it approximates the ideal. Where legislatures have been established it has supposedly been the result of a situation where it was impractical to have direct voting by the people on all issues. It is readily clear, I think, that in a nation such as the United States there are too many issues and too many laws passed for direct voting.

At the time the legislature was established at BYU the same argument was used. This reason has never seemed to be a sound one to me. There are relatively few issues under discussion here each quarter while the opportunities for direct voting are excellent. Voting on major issues which will effect the entire school for years to come ought to be as important as voting for queens or standing in line for tickets.

I believe there is justification for having a government body for the purpose of discussing and drawing-up bills from important issues. However, I believe that the bills should become laws only through direct voting of all who wish to vote.

There are several ways that this could be done: One possibility would have the students vote on all bills drawn-up by the government as a part of their registration either at the beginning of the year or each quarter. Another possibility would see a booth set-up somewhere on the campus where students could vote by having their cards punched. Voting in religion classes might also be considered. The amount of trouble that such procedure would create would be more than offset by the advantages. It will be difficult, for example, to convince students that it is their duty to put "teeth" in their long suffering unless they have some assurance that a majority believe that an honor code is a bill of rights.

It is difficult for an individual not to misrepresent even himself, but when he is called upon to speak for hundreds, then it becomes quite hypothetical. This is especially true when he is only an "ex officio legislator" who was elected as a class president, etc. with no mention of his part as a legislator at the time of his election.

One answer to this plea will of course be that we have the out-let of the referendum. This is a partial answer but it is somewhat of a left-handed means for directing voting. It is much better to vote on an issue before it is entrenched as a part of the government. There is too much complacency and irresponsibility in the student-body itself for the efficient handling of anything so awkward as the referendum. We shouldn't trust ourselves so much that we rely upon the referendum to save our democracy. Here is a campaign issue for someone.

Darrell Roundy

'La Boheme' (Addenda) . . .

Dear Omnipotent Editor of the UNIVERSE:

Prohibitive limitations of time and pica imposed upon your "Jest" Music Critic (by you know who's unswerving authority) made of him a deadbeat even as he made the deadline. So involved was he with the fascinating innovations of the stage director and the physical aspects of the ensemble—most of which were beautifully handled—that other individual accomplishments were unintentionally neglected.

But opera, though the "star" system is dimming as it is in other theatrical media, is still, at many times, a "solar" affair. The "Mimis" of Mesdemoiselles Oakey and Meham, one tenderly pastel, the other multicolorfully warm; the fickle-faithful "Musettas" of Mattice and Madsen; the earnest "Rudolphs" of Curtis and Coray; the well-cast "Marcel" of Putnam and Ruff; Virge Camp's bibulously funny and importunate landlord, and Don Watt's strongly drawn pomposity as "Alcindoro" all made fine impressions at every performance. The two "Schaunards" were amiable musicians, and well done by Powles and Stott. Gene Hansen's philosophical "Col-line," was a most likable and dignified characterization. A lively chorus (as it proved it could be by the end of the week), attentive "Arabs," a big-voiced Pargignol, and other incidental players all contributed to one of the best productions we have seen at BYU. Norm Sullivan deserves the palm for his superb lighting; Messrs. Dallin, Sardon, Van Wagner, Chambers and Smith for their special contributions, and Madame Dallin for hers. But Prof. Newell Weight is the true "non plus ultra" figure behind the success of "La Boheme." Without his conscientious musicianship, ever seeking better results, and his command of the over-all effect, this might have gone down as another "show" rather than as the almost complete artistic success it was.

Yours truly,
"Deadbeat" Whitaker

Broadened Concepts . . .

Dear Editor:

We would like to thank Professor Herald R. Clark and others responsible for the fine Devotionals we have had throughout this year. There has been comment from some students that the majority of the speakers in Devotional have not been in harmony with the spirit of the Devotional program. This opinion was expressed in the Thursday, Feb. 23, editorial of the UNIVERSE.

We do not live in isolation from current events and philosophies. Perhaps all the ideas expressed by such men as T. V. Smith are not right. However, college students should be able to decide for themselves what ideas are worthy of consideration. We feel that in accordance with the belief in our Church that religion is a way of life that it benefits us to hear ideas from all sources in order to broaden our concepts of religion and living in the modern world.

WANDERING MINSTRELS — Newell Weight, a cappella; Norman Hunt, concert band; and Lawrence Sardoni, symphony orchestra; prepare for spring concert tours.

Y Music Organizations Complete Tour Plans

Final arrangements have been completed for the spring tours of three major musical organizations on campus, and an extensive publicity campaign is under way.

The a cappella choir, under the direction of Newell Weight, will tour into southern California; the symphony orchestra, conducted by Lawrence W. Sardoni, will tour the San Francisco bay area; and the concert band, directed by Norman J. Hunt, will tour Arizona.

Each group is composed of approximately 80 student musicians. Selection for the groups is by audition, and members are required to rehearse daily under directors who are considered by both critics and musicians as some of the best in their respective fields.

Secretary Receives New Name Plates For Student Offices

New name plates for the studentbody offices have just arrived, according to Roylance Spratling, studentbody secretary. The plates will carry the names of the receptionists and secretaries in the student offices.

Miss Spratling also announced that there is a vacancy in the secretarial and receptionist staffs of the Executive Council. Those interested in applying may contact her.

New additions to the staff this quarter include Gloria Russell, Joyce Manwaring, Joanna Bleazard, Betty Hales, Marilyn Plack, and Roberta Meline. Other members are Karen Butters, chairman; Judy Lewis, Leora Sablin, Betty Larsen, Donne Berg, Ileta Booke, and Nancy Boher.

Dorms Organize Body to Meet Housing Needs

The organization of a representative body of men from each of the seven Brigham Young University men's dormitories has recently been completed.

The group, consisting of the senior residents of the seven men's houses on campus, has been meeting once each week with John Jones, housing director, in an effort to better accommodate the more than 300 residents of the units.

Richard Hill was elected chairman of the group with Jay Smith as vice-chairman and Wallace Bruce as secretary. The men were elected by a central committee composed of the senior resident, which, in addition to the three officers, is composed of Bob Divett, Clarence Fields, Bob Bateman and Barry Wasden.

In Monday night's meeting, the problem of firearms was discussed. It was pointed out that pellets and b-b holes have been found at various places on the campus and a discussion of city ordinances and firing ranges was brought to the light. Another problem which has been confronting the seven housing units is the absence of cleaning supplies and the problem of drying clothing after it has been washed. Both problems were thoroughly discussed and plans were made for immediate action. Also, the standards for residents of the dorms were considered for revision, due to the addition of a lounge on the ground floor of each structure.

1950 Grad Enters Navy Intelligence

John F. Lee graduate of Brigham Young University in 1950, has received a commission in Navy Intelligence, it was announced recently.

While Mr. Lee was at BYU, he was affiliated with Tausig social unit, Omega Nu, and Blue Keys. He entered George Washington University law school, Washington, D. C., in 1950, and remained there until last November when he received an appointment of the Navy Officer's Training school in Newport, R.I. He trained there for two months before receiving his commission.

Applications Due Next Monday For College Deferment Tests

Applications for the April 24 Selective Service Qualification test must be postmarked not later than midnight Monday, according to Major General Lewis B. Hershey.

The deadline is necessary to allow administrators of the test time to process the applications and assign applicants to the testing centers requested. This will be the last test given during the current academic year.

Blanks Available Here

Application blanks may be obtained by students from the nearest local Selective Service board. It will not be necessary for students to return home to the local board which has jurisdiction over them.

To be eligible to take the Qualification test, an applicant on the testing date must (1) be a selective service registrant who intends to request deferment as a student; (2) be satisfactorily pursuing a full-time college course; and (3) have not previously taken the test.

Deferment Not Exemption

The criteria of consideration for student deferment at the present time is either a score of 70 or better on the test, or standing among the male members in the upper area of their respective classes.

DOWN the CLOTHES HATCH

BY BOB HATCH

It happened last week at the Junior Prom. A Y coed attended with her favorite escort. During the course of the evening the young lady adjourned to the powder room where she met several friends she hadn't seen in ages. The conversation was gay and gossipy, and time went on... and on... and on. Then an attendant handed her a note. On it her obviously weary escort had scribbled: "Can't understand why you haven't written."

A bishop, making a housecall, and his hostess were sitting in the parlor when the small son came running in, carrying a dead rat. "Don't worry, Mother, it's dead. We bashed him and beat him until—" And noticing the bishop for the first time, he added in a lowered voice—"until God called him home."

When winter comes, spring cannot be far behind, I think the saying goes. And just in case 1952 includes a spring season (it's still in doubt as we write this), Clark's at 245 North University have a big shipment of spring casual items.

JUST ARRIVED: Levi Straus blue-denim peg-top slacks. These comfortable and sporty items are already cuffed and pegged. Also matching casual jackets of blue denim. And check the prices: slacks $4.50; jackets $4.95. At Clark's, the Man's Shop.

Huckemeyer: "Terribly sorry you buried your wife yesterday." Vander Cleave: "Had to. dead, you know."

The college man is usually obliged to look on imported clothing items as being far out of his financial reach. Not so these days at Clark's. They've some beautiful, new light weight wool argyles by Interwoven on their display racks now. Imported from Austria these breath-takers are in a two-diamond design. Come see them—only $2.95.

"You're the kind of a man a woman can trust." "Haven't I met you before? Your faith is familiar."

A candidate for the Communist party was undergoing an oral examination. "Comrade," he was asked, "What would you do if you were left two million rubles?" "I would give one million to the party and keep the rest for myself," he answered. "Very good, and if you had two houses?" "One to the party and one for myself." "Excellent. Now tell me what you would do if you had two pair of pants." There was a long pause, and then the candidate said: "Comrade, I just don't know." "Why not?" "Well, you see, I've GOT two pair of pants."

Capitalists of B Y U, United! Fall in march to Clark's, where the finest in men's clothing awaits you. Dismissed.

Two College Grants Available In Massachusetts and Vienna

Radcliffe College is awarding two full tuition fellowships of $650 each, and also the Edith Gratia Stedman fellowship of $300 to young women in the management training program, a one year graduate course in personnel and business administration. The grants are for the academic year 1952-53.

Six months of class instruction by the Harvard Business School faculty, and ten weeks of full time field work in business, government and other organizations enables the student to apply her academic work.

Included in the curriculum are courses in human relations, personnel administration, management problems and objectives, wage policies and procedures, and labor problems.

Complete information may be obtained from T. North Whitehead, management training program, Radcliffe College, Cambridge 38, Mass.

The University of Vienna will have an international summer session this year at Schloss Traunsee, in Salzburg, Austria.

The summer school, held in a 19th century castle, is in the Alpine lake region, near the festival town of Salzburg. The purpose of the school is to promote European-American cultural relations.

Courses, conducted in English, will be offered in law and political science, liberal arts, and German literature and language. Tours and excursions to the Salzburg Festivals, to Vienna, and to other places of interest are offered together with the program of study.

The inclusive cost for three weeks at Schloss Traunsee will be $100, and for six weeks $185. The school is on the list of European institutions approved by the Veterans Administration.

Students who are interested should write to 857 Fifth Avenue, New York 21, N. Y.

ONE MORE UNIVERSE; WE STUDY (TOO)!

Only one issue of the UNIVERSE will be published next week because of final exams.

The Tuesday issue will be a regular eight page edition, but the Thursday paper will be omitted.

All material for Tuesday's paper must be submitted by 2 p.m. tomorrow.

Racial Problem Hit In Movie, 'Pinky,' Final Film Classic

"Pinky" will be shown tonight in the Smith auditorium as the concluding film in winter quarter's film classic series.

The plot involves a girl who has white skin, but has negro blood, and so belongs to neither group. In telling of her problems, many nation-wide difficulties are brought into light.

A language film, "The Affair Blum," will be the second feature.

The show begins promptly at 7 p.m., and admission will be 25 cents or regular season's ticket.

BYU Library Adds Rare History Book

A rare and handsome history-geography journal of the province of Chubut, Argentina, has been presented to the Brigham Young University library by Senor Luis Feldman Josin of Esquel, Argentina.

Entitled "The Journal of Esquel," the book is the history of the Argentine province of Chubut settled by a group of 151 Welsh people in July, 1865. It has remained almost entirely Welsh-speaking to the present time. It embraces an area of approximately 53,400 square miles in the northern part of Patagonia.

The donor of the volume, Senor Josin, made the contribution to the BYU library because of his "great friendship for the LDS missionaries" in the area, and extended his cordial wishes to the Provo school.

Current Drama Enjoys Success, Has Three More Nights to Run

Currently enjoying a successful run on the College Hall stage is Sir James Barrie's classic, "The Little Minister," directed by Burnett Ferguson.

The story of romance and intrigue in Scotland will end Saturday evening. Performances begin each evening at 8:15 p.m. Tickets may be obtained at the College Hall ticket office between 3 and 6 p.m. and between 7 and 8 p.m. each day.

Heading the cast are: Gail Salatus, Inglewood, Calif., as Gavin, the "little minister," and Geneva Call, Las Vegas, Nev., as Babbie, the gypsy girl. Others in the cast include Ray Jones, Magna, as Rob Dow; Alene Redd, Monticello, as Margaret; John Whitaker, Hollywood, Calif., as the villainous Lord Rintoul; Lorna Erickson, Richland, Wash., as Mora; Kay Moon, Orem, as the town doctor; Jean Partridge Harris, Lovell, Wyo., as Nannie; Charlene Francis, Morgan, as Effie; Dorothy Murray, Boise, Ida., as Jean; and Jerry Graham, Mantti, as the sergeant.

Unit Invitational Beckons Boys Of Gamma Tau

Gamma Tau will hold their annual invitational in the City and County building on Friday. The dress will be semi-formal.

The Four Taus, the Gamma Tau quartet, made their second television appearance last week.

After the Prom, 19 members and their dates held an informal get-together at the home of sponsor Lichty. Punch, cake, and parlor games were indulged in by all.

ALCYONE

Rehearsal for the vaudeville show will be the main topic on the agenda today at 4:30 in room 130 S.

A roller skating party with the Tausigs will be held tonight under supervision of Bonnie Wade and Claudette Erickson.

Eggs, bacon and hot chocolate smelled good at the after-Prom breakfast given by the Athenians and Alcyones. Many thanks to cooks Doni De Haan, Bev Hamilton, Bernie Clark, and to all those who had a hand in making the party a success.

TO KALON

Toks are out to win the vaudeville and cup for the second time this year. Arlene Fernley and Maureen Earl are in charge of the skit.

An exchange party with the Vikings is scheduled for tonight after meeting.

TAUSIGS

The Tausigs will hold an exchange with Alcyone this evening. The party will consist of roller skating followed by dancing at the Boathouse.

Congratulations to Glen Hales for the success of the Bunde Party held last Saturday. At a recent meeting, Loyal Hastings was elected as unit song leader.

BRIGADIER

At a meeting Feb. 28, the unit decided they would all donate blood in the current drive. The Brigadier Invitational will be held April 4, in the Smith ballroom under the direction of Sterling McKell.

A double quartet was organized and practices were begun for the Brigadier dinner-dance, which will be held March 21, in the Hotel Utah's Starlight Gardens in Salt Lake City. Bill Gallagher and Earl Lelegren are co-chairmen of the event.

ATHENIAN

There will be an important business meeting tonight in room 215 P. S. at 7:30.

Public Relations Class to Draw Noted Teachers

Six guest lecturers from the fields of business, industry and education have been booked to participate in the spring quarter class in public relations at Brigham Young University.

The three-hour course, offered by the journalism department in cooperation with the department of business administration, is under the direction of Dr. Oliver Smith, journalism department head. It will deal with the practice of public relations in various fields, and the use of communication media and other means of public information.

Industrial public relations problems and methods will be discussed in special lectures by Paul Sullivan, director of public relations for the Utah-Intermountain district of United States Steel, and Joel F. Priest Jr., public relations director for Union Pacific Railroad in Salt Lake City.

Dr. J. C. Moffitt, superintendent of Provo City Schools, and Edwin Butterworth, BYU public relations director, will outline goals and methods in educational public relations. Special phases of business and government relations will be discussed by Prof. Richard L. Smith of the BYU college of commerce and W. Cleon Skousen, BYU Alumni Association secretary and former staff member of the chief of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Aviation Cadet Program Needs 1500 Applicants Per Month

Approximately 1000 qualified pilot applicants and 500 aircraft observer applicants a month are required to support the aviation cadet training program. The backlog of qualified aviation cadet applicants which resulted from the large voluntary response to the program during the early months of 1951 has been entered into training.

Qualifications for aviation cadet applicants desiring to enlist for two years are: 19 to 26½ years, single, and two or more years of college.

Several Changes Made

The examining procedure for applicants with two years of college has been modified to eliminate the Aviation Cadet Qualifying Test and the personal interview conducted by the cadet examining board. Civilian applicants are referred directly to examining boards without appointment. These changes have been made to expedite the entrance into training of qualified applicants.

The four month processing period formerly required of civilians desiring to enter directly into Air Force flying training has been reduced to a maximum of four weeks, the Air Force announced.

Training Begins Earlier

The speed-up of the administrative and testing procedure will enable accepted cadets to start training within three to five months after applying. A wait of seven to 10 months has been necessary in the past.

A complete medical examination now may be given at the nearest Air Force base the same day that an applicant first visits his recruiting station. This change has saved several weeks for time formerly consumed by travel, correspondence, and delays while awaiting appointments.

Four Month Deferment

If physically qualified, the applicant is scheduled for early testing to determine his potential flying ability. Those qualified for aviation cadets are immediately authorized a four month Selective Service deferment while awaiting class assignment.

Further information can be obtained from Major Homer P. Anderson, Aviation Cadet Project Officer, 150 Brimhall.

Keith Orme Leads Parade Of Spring Fever Victims

by Dorothy Bartels

Spring may not have sprung yet, but Cupid has been a busy boy distributing rings, pins, and just plain love around the Brigham Young University campus.

Studentbody prexy Keith Orme caught the fever from his fellow executive officers and presented AWS president Afton Ash with a diamond the night of the Junior Prom. They're planning a spring wedding.

Prom Does It

Prom night was also the time Marilyn Jensen received her diamond from John Bennett.

Delta Phi Dream Girl Jackie Hansen is now the dream girl of one Delta Phi in particular, having received a ring from Jay Farrell at the Prom.

Bookstore Cupid Too

In the last social column, we reported on studentbody office romances, but the bookstore seems to run a pretty close second in Cupid's popularity poll. Two bookstore employees, Gail Farrer and Peggy Bass, are planning June weddings. Gail's diamond came from John Christenson and Peggy received hers from George Evans.

COULD THIS BE YOU?—20 cars with an excessive number of campus traffic violations have been impounded, and 44 more will be picked up as soon as they are found.

Y Traffic Rules Get Tougher For Offenders

Flagrant violations of Brigham Young University traffic rules may result in the impounding of offenders, according to Leland M. Perry, director of buildings and grounds.

Mr. Perry stressed that impounding would be done only as a last resort after attempts to contact car owners have failed.

Twenty-four cars have already been impounded, and 44 more are on the list to be taken when they are discovered.

All faculty, student and employee operated automobiles should be registered with the University. All 1951 traffic stickers are now void, and any car not displaying 1952 identification is subject to receiving tickets. There is no charge for registration.

Traffic officials have announced that any vehicles not properly registered may be unavoidably detained in campus road blocks. The minimum fine for failure to display a registration sticker is one dollar.

Air Force Reserve Seeks Officers For Weather Jobs

College graduates and second-semester seniors with credit for one year of college physics and mathematics through integral calculus are now eligible to apply for USAF commissions and government-expense training to become weather officers with the USAF Air Weather Service.

Successful applicants will be commissioned as second lieutenants in the Air Force Reserve and ordered to active duty by mid-August 1952, to begin a 12-month meteorology course at one of seven participating U. S. colleges and universities.

Schools which will offer the weather training course are the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, New York University, the University of California at Los Angeles, Pennsylvania State College, the University of Chicago, Florida State University and the University of Washington.

Interested young men and women who will graduate before August of this year are urged to write immediately to the Chief, Air Weather Service, Andrews Air Force Base, Washington 25, D. C., for application forms and detailed instructions for applying for a USAF commission and meteorology training.

Dean Martin Talks To L. D. S. Group

Dean Thomas L. Martin was the guest speaker at the Lambda Delta Sigma general meeting Monday night in the banquet hall. Elaine Leavitt took charge of the meeting and Paul Dahl introduced Dr. Martin. He spoke on the prophecies of the Old Testament being fulfilled.

The LDS sextette favored the audience with two songs, one being their special arrangement of the Sweetheart song to the engaged couples of LDS.

The date for spring quarter general openhouse rush party has been announced for April 7.

150 Tickets: Who Gets 'Em

—by Ted Johnson—

Just one more to go before the basketball equipment goes back in the moth-balls for another year. The tourney bid which many fans, myself included, expected did not come our way this season. Had the Cougars laid the lash to the Cowboys from the plains of Wyoming last Saturday night, there would have been a fair chance that the NIT bid would find its way to the Y.

However, the bid, the only bid not extended by the tournament board last week, went to Seattle University and their star Johnny O'Brien. O'Brien is the first college hoopster to dump one thousand points through the hoop in a single season. I imagine that he was the main reason that Seattle got the bid.

This game Saturday night will be no little affair. The Cats were beaten by Utah in football last fall by the narrow but decisive margin of one point and then during this basketball season, the Utes routed the Y squad when they met in the Cougar's home den. That is about enough defeats for the BYU athletes to take at the hands of the none-too-powerful Utahns and I look for a mighty good scrap, come Saturday night.

Ted Johnson

Tickets for the final contest are scarcer than hen's teeth. Due to a pre-season agreement, the Y and the U had agreed to exchange a certain amount of seats for the out-of-town games. When the 'Skins played down here in Provo, they received 150 tickets for the contest.

In turn the athletic council at the U has sent 150 ducats to be distributed by our athletic council. Stop and think! Just how far will 150 tickets to a BYU-Utah game go? Out of that number of cardboard, there will be tickets to go to the team members and coaching staff, about fifty in all, then the athletic council will get a share of the remaining hundred. The General Authorities of the Church will also have tickets reserved for them. Out of the remaining cards, approximately seventy-five went on sale in the Joseph Smith ticket office on Wednesday noon at the price of a dollar and a half, with activity card. This was not publicized for the very good reason that there weren't enough tickets to do much good. Believe me, that job of distributing the stubs is one I'd just as soon someone else had. Under the circumstances, I think they did a very good job.

If you were wondering about getting tickets for this game, you can see why nothing was said in that regard. It is too bad that there isn't room for 1500 or 3000 Y students at the Ute field-house, but this is the Utah home game, and I understand that they have students at that school too. Such is life.

A little more on the sports predictions contest. This week, since there are only two conference games being played, there will only be two game scores to predict instead of the usual three. This will be the last contest open to the general studentbody.

After next week's winners are announced in the following paper, all those persons who have placed in any of the weekly contests throughout the basketball season will be eligible to enter the final championship contest. The final contest will consist of only one game. That game will likely be picked from the NCAA play-offs later on this month.

1. Jerry McEwen
2. Drew Shumway
3. Danny Good
4. Kenneth Zwahlen
5. Dallin Gardner.

This is the last chance for any new entrants to qualify for the championship contest for the MacGregor wind-breaker jacket donated to the contest by Verl and Dal at Clark's Man's Shop. Predict the scores for these two games and qualify for the final contest. Good luck.

Cougars Seek Revenge In Utah Tilt

Three Seniors End Colorful Hoop Careers Saturday

by Dan Clay

Revenge is the word being passed around the fieldhouse as the Brigham Young Cougars prepare for Saturday night's game against the University of Utah at the Lake city.

The Cougars will be trying to hold on to second place in the Skyline Eight as well as avenge the loss sustained to the Utes about a month ago. The Redskin defeat was the Cats' first on the home court.

The Cougars boast a 9-4 mark in conference play, which is just one game better than the ever-improving Farmers who are 8-5 on the Skyline season. The Farmers tangle with Montana. This weekend and will have a tough time downing the Grizzlies who are looking for a third place tie.

Three Bow Out

When the Cats and the Utes take to the court Saturday, three very fine ball players will be donning the hoop togs for the last time as collegians.

Jerry Romney will be making his farewell appearance for the Cougars. Romney, over the past three years, has been one of the most improved men in the conference. He started on two Skyline championship teams and an NIT winner.

For the Utes, Glen Smith and Paul Shrum will bow out of the Redskin roster. Glen Smith has been one of the top scorers in the conference and is one of the smoother pivot men seen around here in quite a while.

Utes Have 7-6 Mark

Paul Shrum has been too often overlooked by raters of fine players in favor of such others as Smith and Jim Cleverly. Shrum has constantly been one of the most underrated players in the conference. He is a great rebounder and a tough man on defense.

The Redskins were noticeably left out of the Skyline picture in the pre-season ratings and their poor showing in conference play bears out why. They are currently mired somewhere in the second division.

The Redskins started out the season in rather fine form with some impressive wins over the so-called elite from the Pacific Coast. Moving east they chalked up much favorable comment from their antics on the eastern boards.

Smith After Point Title

During this eastern swing, Glen Smith made his usual outstanding showing but as the pre-season games wore on, it became apparent that the Utah attack was what Smith made it. The Utes started fast in Skyline play but faded even faster when the blues were on the table.

An added attraction of the BYU-Utah clash will be the effort of Smith to overtake Utah State's Bert Cook for the conference scoring title. He trails Cook by several points but could overtake him with a hot night.

Many fans will no doubt remember the 39 point performance that Smith threw at the Cougars last season on the Salt Lake court. He shares the single game mark with Vince Boryla, ex-Denver ace.

Tourney Hopes Collapse

The last time these two teams met it was a close battle until Vadal's vandals pulled away midway in the final period. From 41-40, the visitors moved it to 50-40. With the count at 51-42 Joe Richey's scorching fingers made it 51-48 but it was too late.

With no post-season tourneys open for either team, all the stopper will be out with each squad determined to end the season on a satisfying note.

The last NIT berth was filled late Monday when the University of Seattle accepted an invitation to the classic that gets underway Saturday.

Universe SPORTS

FOR THREE, THE LAST LOOK—Paul Shrum (34) goes up to block a Joe Richey shot in the Utah game played at Provo. Glen Smith (8), Jerry Romney (12), and Shrum will be making their last appearance as collegians Saturday night after three years of sterling varsity play. The trio have pleased local court fans with their outstanding ability.

Cook, Smith Make Final Bid for Scoring Crown

With the last weekend of Skyline Eight season coming up, the two scoring leaders sharpened their eyes for their last assault on the individual scoring title.

Utah State's Bert Cook leads Glen Smith of Utah by only seven points and must have a pretty good night against the Montana Grizzlies to stay ahead of the ever dangerous Ute sharpshooter.

Smith will have the advantage of the home court when the Redskins host the second place BYU Cougars Saturday night. It might be remembered that Smith tied a conference mark when he dropped 39 through the hoops against the Cats last year.

Smith Has Advantage

Cook has a total of 237 points for an 18.2 average, a shade ahead of Smith who boasts 230 markers and a 17.7 per game mark. However, Smith has the advantage of knowing how many points he needs, since Cook plays the preceding night at Missoula.

Third place among the top scorers was held tightly by Moe Radovich, University of Wyoming star. Radovich has checked in with 190 points but still had two games remaining at press time. The Pokes played Colorado A&M last night at Laramie and travel to Denver tomorrow for the curtain closer.

BYU's Joe Richey retained the number four spot but needs at least 14 against the Redskins to edge New Mexico's Larry Tuttle. Tuttle ended the season with 206 counters and a 14.7 average. Richey has 193 for a 14.8 average with the Redskin contest left.

Pokes Top Team Marks

In the team statistics department the Wyoming Cowboys, Skyline champs, have a comfortable lead in both offensive and defensive averages. The Waddies' opponents have hit only 28 per cent of their shots and only 48.7 points per game.

On the offensive side the Pokes have dropped 35 per cent of their field goals through the hoop and have averaged 64.8 points per contest.

Wyoming Cowboys Rated Tenth Among Nation's Hooping Elite

The Wyoming Cowboys, recently crowned champions of the Skyline Eight, retained their number ten spot in this week's United Press ratings. The Pokes will represent this district in the western NCAA playoff held later this month.

The University of Kentucky Wildcats copped the top rung on the UP ladder for the fifth straight week. The Cats garnered 27 first place votes, of a possible 35 and a total of 331 points out of a possible 350.

The University of Illinois strengthened its hold on second place by capturing the Big Ten title. The Fighting Illini picked up three first place nods and 291 points.

Kansas, K-State Play Friday

Only one point separated third and fourth place in the ratings and that place, along with the Big Seven title, will be at stake Kansas State and Kansas meet at Manhattan, home of third ranked Kansas State.

Duquesne, St. Louis, and Washington occupied the next three positions in the poll with all three receiving one first place vote. The other listed first place vote went to Western Kentucky which is currently tied with Villanova for sixteenth spot.

Bufs Upset Pokes

The Wyoming team, winners over BYU last Saturday, will probably drop out of the top ten as a result of a humiliating 59-44 loss to the Colorado Buffaloes Monday night.

The Waddies trailed the ninth place St. Johns Redmen by only 15 points but led eleventh place St. Bonaventure by five. The Pokes are rated above such teams as Seton Hall, Louisville, Dayton, Western Kentucky, and Villanova.

Utah Freshmen Seek to Even Score with Cats

When the Brigham Young University Cougars travel to Salt Lake this weekend, the Kittens will make the trip also, aiming for two-in-a-row over the University of Utah Papooses.

Having met once before in season's play, the two clubs will be battling down to the wire, BYU trying to make it a second victory over the little Utes, and the Papooses trying to even the score for the defeat they suffered at the hands of the Y squad on February 2.

Having been defeated only twice in the season's activity, the greenlings will show all the polish and ball playing ability that they can muster. This is the last Frosh game of the season and the last chance for the team members to show their mettle and gain a chance at a berth on the varsity next year.

When the Papooses met the Kittens on the Y court, it was a plenty tough and exciting scramble throughout. Utah led almost all the way, but Neil Stephens caught a spark and dunked a basket in the waning moments of the tilt and gave them a two point victory.

Too Many Forfeits In Intramurals

With the end of the intramural basketball schedule approaching, there has been an increasing number of forfeits. The teams usually forfeiting have been those teams that are not in the running for the tournament.

The result of these forfeits has been a general let down in interest. It is hoped by the officials in charge of the intramural program that all teams will show up for the few remaining games on the regular schedule.

Utah State Tops Regis 77-65 for NAIB Berth

The Utah State Farmers, paced by the sharp foul shooting of Bert Cook, downed Regis College of Denver Tuesday night to clinch a bid to the NAIB tournament.

The tournament starts next week in Kansas City, requiring the Farmers to leave directly from Missoula, Mont., for the tourney.

In the game played at Logan before some 3500 fans, the Utags staged a great last period surge to top the Rangers. The score going into the final quarter was 51-49 for the Farmers.

The big cog in the Aggie machine was, as usual, Bert Cook who dropped 25 points through the hoop for high scoring honors. Cook was phenomenal from the foul line as he hit 15 for 16.

The Staters led 16-12 at the end of the first quarter only to have the visitors fight back and tie the count at 24. A mild rally gave the victors a 30-25 lead at intermission.

Regis, in turn, rallied in the third stanza and drew to 51-49 as the quarter ended. That was as close as they got the rest of the night.

Contralto Plans Vocal Variety On Y Program

Tonight at 8:15 p.m. in the Provo tabernacle, Claramae Turner, young American contralto, will present a program of varied vocal selections.

Miss Turner has more than 55 operatic roles at her command as well as a large and varied repertoire for her coast to coast concert tours. She will be accompanied by Carl Fuerstner of the Brigham Young University music faculty.

Her lyceum program will include Grieg's "A Dream," "A Swan," and "Autumn Storm;" Tchaikovsky's aria "Adieu, Forests," from Jeanne d'Arc; Respighi's "Nebbia" and "Scherzo;" aria from Menotti's "Medea;" and Levitski's "Do You Remember."

BYU Students Lose Over 500 Dollars In Recent Robbery

Thugs reached a new high in daring and a new low in honor last week when they got away with over five hundred dollars in loot from the apartment of Darcy and Jack Clawson and John Woodward.

Their apartment is in the white house directly south of the bookstore.

The job was pulled last Wednesday morning while the fellows were in their 8:50 classes. Great pains were taken to hide the robbery and consequently it was several days before the loss was discovered.

Included in the missing articles were a Bell and Howell 16mm turret head movie camera, a Weston Cadet light meter, a movie camera tripod, a portable radio, an electric razor and case, and a leather jacket.

The camera was insured, but the rest was lost.

When a Snow Carnival trophy disappeared several weeks ago, Mr. Woodward concluded it had been lost, but this new development makes it seem likely that it was stolen also.

There are few clues to the robber's identity, but the police are working on the case and results are expected soon.

Temple Excursion Plans Cancelled

Due to the final examinations, there will not be any library excursions or temple excursions to Salt Lake City next Thursday or Friday, according to the Campus Branch presidency.
